

PEAK 25 CHALLENGE

Challenge Agreement • 1 September – 20 December 2026

Participants	Vlad, Simon and Ali
Period	1 September 2026 – 20 December 2026 (inclusive)
Bet	SEK 1,000 per participant who fails
Core target	Valid activity on at least 6/7 of eligible days

1. Purpose and acceptance

This agreement defines the rules of the Peak 25 Challenge. By signing, each participant accepts the same rules, evidence requirements and consequences for the full challenge period.

The challenge is pass/fail. A participant who satisfies all requirements completes the challenge. A participant who does not satisfy all requirements fails the challenge.

2. Challenge period

The challenge begins on 1 September 2026 and ends on 20 December 2026. Both the start date and end date are included.

3. Main activity requirement

Each participant must complete one valid activity on at least 6/7 (approximately 85.7%) of all eligible days during the challenge period.

Only one activity may be counted per calendar day, even if several qualifying workouts or sports are completed that day.

The requirement is assessed over the entire challenge period, not week by week. Missed training days may therefore be offset by training on a higher proportion of days during another part of the challenge, provided the final 6/7 requirement is met.

Calculation: Required activity days = ceiling(Eligible days × 6/7). Eligible days are all challenge days minus approved sickness/injury exclusion days.

4. What counts as a valid activity

A valid activity must meet at least one of the definitions below and must be supported by evidence under Section 7.

- Gym workout: More than 30 minutes and more than 8 working sets in total.
- Leg day: More than 30 minutes and at least 8 working sets for the legs. This counts both as the weekly leg-day requirement and as that day's single valid activity.
- Running: At least 30 minutes or at least 5 km
- StairMaster: At least 30 minutes.
- Cycling: At least 30 minutes.
- Swimming: At least 30 minutes.

- Golf – walking/carrying or trolley: At least 9 holes when the participant walks the course and carries the bag or uses a trolley/push cart for the clubs.
- Other sports: At least 30 minutes of genuine pulse-raising physical activity, e.g. padel, football, tennis, CrossFit, skiing or a comparable sport.

5. Weekly leg-day requirement

Each participant must complete at least one qualifying leg day per calendar week during the challenge period.

A qualifying leg day requires at least 8 working sets for the legs. Sets may include exercises for quadriceps, hamstrings, glutes and calves. The sets must be genuine working sets rather than warm-up sets.

A leg day may simultaneously satisfy the main activity requirement for that day; it does not create an additional activity credit.

6. Sickness and injury exclusions

Days on which a participant is genuinely unable to train because of injury or significant illness are removed from the denominator used to calculate eligible days. Fever and serious colds are explicitly included as valid illness reasons.

There are no exclusions for work, studies, travel, holidays, social events, lack of time, fatigue, poor weather or similar circumstances.

The participant must notify the group or record the sickness/injury in an agreed shared log. The reason and affected dates must be identifiable.

An injury or illness does not create activity credits; it only removes approved affected days from the denominator. If an injury or illness makes the weekly leg-day requirement medically unreasonable for an affected calendar week, that week's leg-day requirement is also excluded, provided the condition is recorded in the same way.

7. Logging and evidence

Every counted activity must have some form of verifiable evidence.

Activities may be logged in Hevy or Strava. Other evidence may be accepted where the activity cannot reasonably be captured there, provided it clearly supports that the qualifying activity was completed.

Examples of acceptable evidence include a Hevy workout, Strava activity, GPS/watch recording, golf scorecard/app record, gym activity log or another timestamped record that reasonably verifies the activity.

Activities may be registered retrospectively. There is no automatic deadline for logging, but a participant who cannot produce evidence for an activity cannot count it.

8. Completion, failure and payment

A participant completes Peak 25 only if, by the end of 20 December 2026, the participant has met both (a) the 6/7 eligible-day activity requirement and (b) the weekly leg-day requirement, subject only to approved sickness/injury exclusions.

Each participant who fails pays SEK 1,000 in total. The failed participant's SEK 1,000 is divided equally among all participants who successfully complete the challenge.

Example: if one participant fails and two participants complete the challenge, the failed participant pays SEK 500 to each successful participant.

If all participants complete the challenge, nobody pays the bet. The group will instead celebrate by going out for a proper dinner.

If no participant completes the challenge, nobody receives prize money and no payment is due unless the group unanimously agrees otherwise.

9. Interpretation and disputes

The written rules in this agreement take priority over informal assumptions or later recollections.

If an unusual activity, injury, illness or evidence situation is not clearly covered by the rules, the participants should decide how it is treated as early as possible and apply the same interpretation consistently to everyone.

Any rule change during the challenge requires unanimous agreement from all participants.
